SATURDAY, JANUARY 6, 1872.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

-Gold closed yesterday at 84a9. In New York cotton closed firm at 20%c for uplands, with sales of 3775 bales.

-The Liverpool market closed strong; uplands 101d; sales 200,000 bales. -One of the bears in Central Park, New York, has the ague. -The New York Mail says: "As men par their hair in the middle, ladies have taken to wearing their's parted on the side." -The definitive plan for the reconstruction of the Vendome column has been sent to the Minister of the Interior, who will lay it before the Chamber at the beginning of the session. -Rochefort's occupation at Fort Bayard is that of writing the history of Napoleon Third. The title of the book will of course be cuttingly insolent; it is, in fact, "Histoire du Bas Empire, ou, les Aventures de Robert Macaire."

-Aitelegram from London to the Continental papers says the representatives of the English Government abroad have received orders to report on the character and proceedings of the Internationals in the countries where they

In consequence of the attitude of the Italian sentinels stationed around the Vatican, who threatened to fire on some persons in attendance on the Pope who had placed them selves at one of the windows of the Vatican a conference has been held between Signor Venosta and Cardinal Antonelli. This incldent seems to interest very much those persons who watch the course of Italian politics -The world uses 250,000,000 pounds of tea each year, and 713,000,000 pounds of coffee China furnishes nearly all of the tea and Brazil over one half of the coffee. Over 140,000 pounds of Java and 18,000 pounds of Mocha is produced. The United States consumes nearly one-third of all the coffee produced in the world and the English are the greatest ter drinkers out of Chins. The Germans rank nexeto the Americans as coffee drinkers. The Americans consume about six pounds of coffee and one hundred and twenty-two pounds of beef per head, counting adults and infants, each year. This looks large, but then the Yankees never do anything by halves.

The jewels belonging to the Apollo Gallery of the Louvre were concealed during the Commune in a small room, carefully walled up, on the second story of the building erected by Francois I, over the Salle Henri II and the Salon des Sept Cheminees. The work had been so skilfully executed that the insurgents, during their two months' occupation of the palace, must have passed before it a thousand times without suspecting that this treasure of de R's, conservator, and to the employees of the museum, who were several times on the point of being shot for refusing to disclose the place of concealment,

The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer says that Secretary Fish is determined that the administration shall pursue only a passive policy, and threatens to leave the Cabinet if the President allows anything to be done watch may lead to a war with Spain. He has made no arrangements to remain through the winter, and is temporarily stopping with Secretary Robeson. He has e some show of trying to get a house, but has none, although he could have got several if he had really desired one. It is not unlikely that affairs will come to a crisis next week, as on the reassembling of Congress it is the intention of General Banks and others to force the administration to take ground in a manner that will show Spain that the United States is a power not to be longer trifled with as it has been for over two years. In that event Mr. Fish will probably relire. It has never been determined exactly how many persons perished in the Chicago fire. The estimates have varied from two hundred to five hundred; but, a Chicago paper says, when it is remembered that the hot breath of the conflagration withered to ashes great cobes of building stone, and then blew the ashes out into the lake, it is sadiy probable that many human bodies suffered prec'sely the same fate. Over one hundred bodies, or portions of bodies, have been recovered. Nearly all of these have been identified, and the work of clearing away the rubbish is yet a long way from completion. Now, through the exertions of the Relief and Ald Society, the names of a host of others have been promulgated as mis-ing since the fire. Of these, it is fair to presume that at least three-fourths must be added to the list of victims, making the number in all probability about four hun-

-The London Spectator has the following relative to the famine in Persia: "Mr. A. J. S. Adams, travelling in Teheran about two months ago, says that in the crowds who swarm in the barrack square to receive a at Columbia, in the absence of any judge at dole of small silver from the Shah, hundreds, that time in this circuit, which motion was January. Depositors are requested to bring in men and women, are literally stark naked, worn to the bone and covered with sores. The people follow the visitor, howing for bread; two men lie upon the ground quite dead, and a third is laid upon one side of the bazaar, covered with a dirty piece of cotton. A naked woman lies in the agony of death, surrounded by a crowd of beings almost as badly off as herself. The next form is that of a woman, who scrapes from the ground a handfull of melon seed and filth, which she divides between her two children. This is one morning's ride. There is no help for any of them, though the Shah has, as Mr. Murray testifies, bucketsful of jewels in the private treasury, and the famine cannot end until July."

-The value of vaccination as a preventive of small pox, though questioned by many. seems attested by statistics. When small-pox was raging as an epidemic in London in 1863, observations were made by the physicians upon fifty thousand children belonging to national and parochial schools, workhouses, &c. Some of the children had never been vaccinated; the great majority had, in various ways and degrees. Of every one thousand children without any marks of vaccination nine hundred and sixty had marks of smallpox; while of every one thousand children who had evidence of vaccination, only one hundred and seventy-eight had any trace of the disease. In regard to the amount of vaccination, it was found that, of children having four or more cicatrices, only 0.62 per thousand were scarred with small-pox. So the best vaccination proved thirty-fold more protective than the worst, and the worst was twentyseven times better than none at all. The study of fifteen thousand cases of small-pox at the London hospital shows that the unvaccinated died at the rate of thirty-seven per cent., and the vaccinated at the rate of only six and a half per cent.; the mortality among those with four scars being only 0.55, while that among those with only a single scar was 7.37. A comparison of the statistics indicates that a well vaccinated parson runs only oneseventeenth the risk which is taken by those who refuse to avail themselves of vaccina-

Profit and Loss.

The St. Louis Republican, the ablest advocate of what is known as the passive policy, sums up the political balance sheet at the close of the year, for the purpose of ascertaining what are the most important facts and figures to be carried forward as the profit and loss to the Democracy for-

California and New York, having forty electoral votes, have been lost, and New Hampshire and Texas have been gained, which States reduce the Democratic net loss to twenty-eight electors. The disastrous result in New York is ascribed exclusively to the shameful disclosures in reference to the Tammany thieves, and those best informed are confident that the Empire State needs but the opportunity to give overwhelming evidence of the fact that its repudiation of Grant, Murphy and Conkling is as hearty and sincere as its condemnation of Tweed,

Connolly and their colleagues in crime. The number of States in the present possession of the opponents of the national administration is sixteen; and they rank respectively, as follows, with reference to their population and consequent political influence, according to the bill which has recently passed the House providing for an apportionment of representatives to continue until the results of the census of 1880 are announced; and which increases the number of members from 243 to 283; an increase of forty members, of which the Western States gain twenty-two, the Southern States thirteen, the Middle States five, and New England loses and the Pacific coast gains one

The entire number of electoral votes untler the new apportionment is three hundred and fifty-seven, which necessitates the pes session of at least one hundred and seventynine to the Democracy to enable them to place their candidate in the White House; that is to say, the Democrats must make a clear-gain of forty-three electoral votes, in addition to retaining all they now hold, to jewelry, cochecrystal, enamels, &c., estimated carry the Presidential election of 1872! And at 50,000,000 francs, was so near them. The the St. Louis Republican does not believe credit of this success is due to Count Clement that this can be done unless the Missouri policy meets with approval. It regards the 6 o'clock P. M. hold of the Democracy upon Indiana, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Oregon and Nevada as of the most precarious description. They have thirty-three electoral votes, which are classed as "doubtful" if passivism be rejected.

Altogether the St. Louis Republican thinks that the chances of Democratic success are miserably small if its advice is not heeded.

The City Debt.

We have always held the opinion that a vigorous and practical City Council would be able to devise means of arranging the municipal debt in a manner which would do no wrong to either bondholder or taxpayer; and we have confidence that the present administration, by mutual agreement, will put the debt in a manageable and endurable shape. Until, however, the financial plans of the City Council are made known, we deem it proper to confine our own action to the publication and explanation of whatever matured views and opinions may be submitted to us upon the subject. With this purpose we have printed the letters of a corres pondent, writing under the signature of Taxpayers, whose desire is to induce the City Council to forbear any further legislation in relation to the debt until the courts have decided whether it is a binding obligation. The point is also made that, if the debt be valid, it can be enforced against the corpo rators only by process of execution.

In connection with this question, we take leave to remind our readers that proceedings have been instituted to test at least the power of Council to enforce the municipal debt by taxation. The action to that end was taken, more than a year ago, under authority of a meeting of citizens held in the Market Hall. A motion for a temporary injunction was made before Justice Willard refused, on the ground, as we are informed, that there was no cause shown for the temporary injunction-the parties having apparently acquiesced in the taxation of the debt for many years, and evidence of urgency not being given. Justice Willard did not undertake to prejudge the issue. The cause was remitted for trial by the Circuit Court of this County. No opportunity for trial has since occurred, from the pressure of criminal and pre-existing civil causes on the docket, and the parties, therefore, have but the prospect of a trial at the next ensuing term of court. The Cotton Tax-Important Notice.

The Columbia Phænix learns from a communication from Washington, addressed to John T. Sloan, Esq., that "the Secretary of "the Treasury has at last modified his two-'year order, and extended the time to June 30, 1872. All cotton, tare and other claims "that were shelved by that order will be act-"ed on and paid, if properly proved."
